

HENRY FORD DIFFERS FROM ST. PAUL IN DEFINING CHARITY

EARN YOUR HOME, HE SAYS

Continued from the announcement that Mr. Ford will turn some of his hope for the new construction of a great airplane terminal in Greater Boston. He will do this in the near future. He said in an interview, his purpose being to make Boston an important link in the chain of airports that he is building.

Ford air terminals are already in existence at Dearborn, Mich., and Cleveland.

In a chat at Wayne Inn in Sudbury, the automobile maker made known the Boston spirit of his plans to advance commercial flying and indicated that some time soon the interesting announcement of the location of the new air station here will be made.

With the projected establishment of a Ford residential community in conjunction with the new Ford plant in Somerville, the manufacturer's Boston plans call for the expenditure of many millions.

Mr. Ford isn't all commercial, by any means. Just now he has a quarrel with St. Paul over the word "charity."

In Corinthians, chapter 13, the Apostle offers this definition:

"New abideth faith, hope and charity, but the greatest of these is charity."

The automobile monarch said with emphasis of a pistol shot that "charity" the word should be ripped out of dictionaries. It means derelict and abused. You may have got away from its purpose and meaning. It develops aches and aches.

"Community funds are all wrong. They don't give you too vigorously on that score. A lot of people do more good than charity and too much suffering. Masses of people wake up and are self-dependent and assertive. Action and hard work are what are needed more than charity and community funds."

The maker of automobiles and millions was trucking up from the pond at his new English estate, where alone over his shoulder with the abandon of a schoolboy when he gave his views on charity. Looking comfortably before an open fireplace he had earlier discussed football, motors, square dances, aeronautics and strikes.

It was when asked if he planned to build community homes for employees at his new Sudbury plant, an assembling plant, now under construction, that Mr. Ford put his respects to charity and community funds.

"Our company built 300 community homes at Dearborn during the war," said he, "but we sold them all. I never believed in community homes. We will not establish such a community in Somerville. People ought to earn their own homes. They ought to save and struggle for them and they will enjoy them all the more when they attain their goal. Industry and action are needed more than charity."

As lean and lithe as a youth of twenty Mr. Ford dived around the pond on skates that he made himself eight years ago out of steel that is used in axles of flywheels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford, their son Edsel and his wife and a party of Detroit friends arrived at Wayne Inn on Wednesday for a few days' vacation.

Ford also came here at this time to launch a new phase of his revival of old-fashioned three music. He has summoned old time musicians from various localities to play three instruments little known in these days—the dulcimer, symphonion and the harmonica.

The new proprietor of Wayne Inn has chosen among his collection of musical instruments and today's program promises a rare concert program.

HENRY FORD TRIES OUT SKATES MADE BY HIMSELF

PUTTING ON THE LITTLE OL' ONE CYLINDERS

FORD TURNS THE GAUNTLET SHORTER THAN A FORD

GOING INTO HIGH

Picking up an old silver axle Henry Ford, with native genius, fashioned a pair of skates. It is shown putting them on.

The next thing he did was try 'em out and he is pictured circling the pond at Sudbury where he is enjoying the sport.

And the rejuvenating effect of the exercise is shown in the first in which he skates with Mrs. Gaston Plaintiff, wife of his New York distributor.

WALTER METZ WINS DECREE OF DIVORCE

The wartime romance of Mrs. Mildred Whalley Metz of Auburn, N. Y., and Charles Walter Metz, son of a former Waltham auto manufacturer, received its death blow, it was learned today, when a Los Angeles court awarded a divorce to Metz on the grounds of cruelty on Dec. 15.

Mrs. Metz, though repudiated by court at the hearing, did not contest the suit.

Mrs. Metz became acquainted with the popular Auburn girl while engaged in that section of New York on inspection of government factory properties during the war, the romance culminating in marriage on Jan. 25, 1919.

The couple lived in Waltham at the time of the bridegroom's parents until 1922, when suit was brought by Mrs. Metz for divorce.

The young husband contested and the suit was dismissed. It was said at the time that trouble between the couple arose on account of his insistence that she take a "polishing course" preparatory to meeting New England society.

Metz is engaged in the manufacture of refrigerators in the West.

MICHAEL DAVITT COUNCIL WILL ENROLL MEMBERS

Peter Golden of New York will enroll a large number of members of Michael Davitt Council, A. A. R. I. R., at a meeting in Paine Memorial Hall, No. 9 Appleton street, South End, tomorrow night. Michael J. O'Brien, president of the council, extends an invitation to anybody who is interested in the Irish cause. A vocal and instrumental program will be given.

ROMANCE OF WAR DAYS BLASTED

Mrs. Mildred Whalley Metz, formerly of Waltham, whose husband won her heart in World War days and now has divorced her on charges of cruelty.

Charles Walter Metz, son of a former Waltham auto manufacturer, received his death blow today when a Los Angeles court awarded a divorce to his wife, Mrs. Metz, on the grounds of cruelty.

2 DIE, 5 HURT, WALES TO QUIT BLINDING SNOWFALL

Boston Harbor this afternoon, when the 55-mile gale prevented pilots from boarding ships.

At Revere the tide washed ashore five kegs of whiskey, and when at low tide Coast Guardsmen waded out to the run runner stranded off shore they discovered about 100 cases of champagne resting on the ocean's bed.

The Metropolitan police notified prohibition enforcement headquarters and agents will hold the boat and liquor.

The boat found today left Rum Row last night with two other craft, which police say were run-runners. The other two boats had not returned to their usual mooring place today, and it is feared they and their crews, in addition to the men aboard the boat discovered today, have been lost at sea in the storm.

MOTHER OF 90 HELPS CLEAR ACCUSED SON

Lowell, Jan. 9.—Testimony of his 90-year-old mother, helped free Thomas J. Alton of West View street today, when he was in court on an assault and battery charge brought by his sister Josephine, Mrs. Mary Alton, the mother, was carried into court feeble and crippled. She deposed her son had assaulted her daughter. Turning on her daughter, who sat in front of her, she said: "I never want to see her face again." Miss Alton pleaded with her mother and pointed out that she had taken care of her for years, but the aged woman was adamant. The court found Alton not guilty.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT FOR U. S. RUBBER PROBE

Washington, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—A concerted effort will be made by House Democrats to investigate profits made in the rubber and coffee trades by American interests. Representative O'Connell of Kentucky, acting minority leader, announced today he would ask for immediate consideration of a measure to broaden the present investigation by the House Commerce Committee, which now has authority to inquire only into foreign monopolies in rubber, coffee and other raw materials.

BERLINS UNDER SPECIAL PROBE OF ALUMINUM CO. ORDERED

Announcement of the new proceedings was made when the Assistant Attorney-General read a report from Examiner Dunn of the Department of Justice, saying that "investigation obtained from the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing Company is clearly indicative of the actions of the company which have been as generally criticized by its competitors such as price policy, special discount, full line forcing, exclusive dealing, resale price maintenance and causing discontinuance of competing lines."

The Assistant Attorney-General testified after Attorney-General Seward had concluded presenting his views to the committee. The latter said a test would be made as to whether the Department of Justice could obtain from the Federal Trade Commission certain information it had gathered about the practices of the Aluminum Company of America, about which the present investigation has been conducted.

The Dunn report said manufacturers knew of an price discrimination, except on one occasion, when the Illinois Pure Aluminum Company bought 100,000 pounds of aluminum at a low price. He added there was no doubt that the committee would obtain from the Federal Trade Commission certain information it had gathered about the practices of the Aluminum Company of America, about which the present investigation has been conducted.

"Society Rose" of Berlin in New Song

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—A song about Irving Berlin and his bride, the former Miss Ellin Mackay, appeared on Broadway. Its chief refrain is "When a kid from the East Side found a sweet society rose."

The song already is being sung in the night clubs and in vaudeville.

Walls those close to the Prince of Wales admit he is not enamored with his present position or with the prospects of eventually taking over the throne. It is said that he has no intention of dodging his responsibilities.

The rumor of his reported desire to renounce the throne appears to have originated some two years ago when it was reported that the Prince was in difficulties with the King and the Queen because of his failure to marry.

SECRET DOCUMENTS IN THE KAROLYI CASE

Washington, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—Senator Borah said today he had been advised as to the contents of the documents which were made the basis for the refusal of the government to admit Countess Karolyi to the United States. He added, however, that he "knew certain confidential documents had been sent to the State Department which the department held to be controlling."

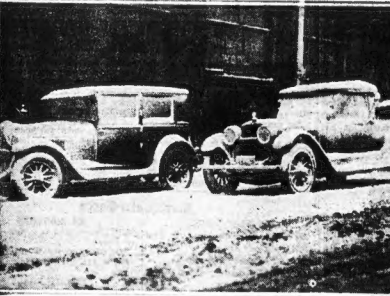

MRS. BUDLONG TO ASK FOR COUNSEL FEE

Newport, R. I., Jan. 9.—Mrs. Jessie Budlong will appear in superior court Monday when her attorney, Cornelius C. Moore, will ask the court to grant her client an allowance and counsel fees preliminary to the action her husband Milton J. Budlong has brought against her in a suit for a legal separation, alleged adultery.

MILLION KICKING AROUND SOMEWHERE; WHO KNOWS?

Attorney-General Benton will be called upon to settle the balance between State Treasurer Youngman and Budget Commissioner Howard over the amount of the State's cash surplus. Youngman contends that the surplus is $25,000 and that the balance between this sum and $1,850,000 was set aside as a special highway fund. Howard holds that it was the intention of the Legislature to have the highway act take effect in 1925, the administration would have the task of raising $1,850,000.

HUB FOLKS WILL BE RECITING WHITTIER'S 'SNOWBOUND' SUNDAY IF SNOW DOESN'T CEASE

Summer street began to look like the well-known open road along in the afternoon. Parked autos were weighted down with snow two and three inches deep.

Who said open winter? Here's the first official blow of the season getting into action on the snow-driven streets of the city.

Umbrellas needed roofs when their fair carriers toiled across Dewey Square, with cross-currents blowing around forty miles an hour.

Agnes Neugarten and Antonette Di Pietro are not singing "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow." On the contrary, they're cursing at the storm, having had to wait out in it during a fire in the Chelsea plant where they work.

NAME ON DANGER LIST

Michael Joyce, a trackman employed in the maintenance department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, is on the danger list at the Haymarket square Relief hospital as a result of injuries received today when he was struck by an elevated train near the repair shops outside the subway square terminal, Charlestown. He was taken to Haymarket Square Relief hospital, where he is 52 years of age, married and lives at No. 239 E. 14th street, South River.

SALM'S VILE PLANS TO HIDE OUT IN EUROPE

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Famed defense attorney Salomon H. Salm, charged with plotting to kidnap President John F. Kennedy, is believed to be hiding out in a villa of an illegitimate son in the Italian town of the marble in San Paolo, Rome.

According to a report in the Italian newspaper, L'Espresso, Salm, now 46 years old, is the illegitimate son of a wealthy American, who is believed to be the father of the alleged plot to kidnap the president.

The Italian Espresso magazine, which has been publishing a series of articles on the alleged plot, said Salm is believed to be hiding out in a villa in San Paolo, Rome, which is believed to be the father of the alleged plot to kidnap the president.

Bus Line Cases

Lawrence, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—All motor coach service between Lawrence and Heflin on all lines ceased today in compliance with the rulings handed down Monday by the Supreme Judicial Court.

The three, all Worcester men, would appear for appearance in court next Thursday on a charge of breaking and entering. They were Anthony Plouso, twenty-one; Michael Deane, thirty-five, and Michael A. Lyons, twenty.

"IN ITALY, NO MORE STRIKES!"

—B. Mussolini

The marvellous man who by strength of his own character and personality has come to be the undisputed Dictator of a great government and a great people lays down the law to both Capital and Labor.

"My program of anti-strike laws in Italy," he says, "is far-reaching and of world-wide importance. Under these laws, every industrial dispute will be taken to an industrial judicial court, which will ENFORCE compulsory arbitration."

Admitting that the plan is opposed by "a considerable number" of owners and workmen, the Dictator nevertheless declares flatly that "such shortsighted opposition must be firmly set aside." And he's the boss! Read him, in full, in tomorrow's BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER.

OUTDOOR SPORTS BREEZING ALONG IN FINE STYLE

Joe Guyer, Hyde Park High School hockey star. One of the cleverest hockey players.

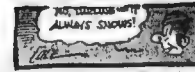

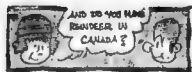

Watching the action on ice can be seen at the Bear River Country Club. It's a just barrel of fun.

Leon Hitchman, right defence for the Boston Bruins. He did patrol duty once as a member of the Royal West Mounted Police in Canada. Ice and patrolling are his middle names.

Step lively is the watchword at soccer games. Here we have a bit of the game between the Job and Whittall teams at Walpole Street. Soccer is having a great season.

Burton Stratton, goal tender of Boston Trade School hockey team. He stops everything that is shot at his sector.

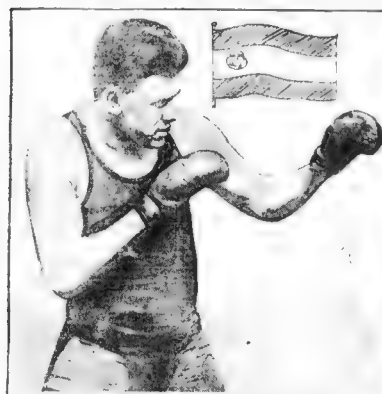

Charles Dooley, a clever Boston College hurdler. He came up from Boston College High. Dooley is shown topping the timbers in practice at University Heights.

Field Hockey Too Rough for Girls

The St. Joseph's T. A. S. W.

This feature also appears in the Los Angeles Times Advertiser.

A black and white photograph showing three people in a body of water. On the right, a person stands with their back to the camera, looking towards the others. In the center, a person sits or crouches in the water. On the left, another person is partially visible. In the foreground, a rectangular sign with a border contains the text "PROFESSORIAL POOL" in capital letters. The water appears calm, and the background is slightly out of focus.

THERE IS NO SPOT OF PENSIONED SPORTS which has little or nothing to do with its monetary features but when it more than pays to make the athletes themselves to think

For the pro-fascist activities which put the findings of O. Henry to rest. The greater has been his career, the less his chances of succeeding in professional endeavor seem to be.

In football the programme has been meaty, but on a lesser note, probably because they have not been so hampered by too much renown. Stars such as Cy Wootton, George Oden and Gustafson have been super stars at the post game, while the brilliant pairs of the greatest great—such as Gifford and Nevers, have had harder sledding.

It doesn't mean much in a way, for they still get paid, but there are going to be many athletes who will consider long enough to decide if the best deal is to stay in the game upon their collegiate laurels, and pass up the risk of a disillusioning, though profitable, anti climax.

As the strains of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" are perpetuated in jazz, so will the splendid untutored careers of athletes of the Grange type become lost in the saxophone clangor of the professional ballyhoo.—STED CHANDLER.
